

Jerri Jackson

Jerri Jackson is the mother of Matt McQuinn who was murdered while protecting his girlfriend from gunfire in the Aurora theater mass shooting on July 20, 2012. Jerri has been working behind the scenes since that time, having travelled to Newtown after the mass shooting there to help families cope, and working to help victims/communities of multiple mass shootings advocating for victims' rights. In 2012, she founded the Matt McQuinn Acts of Kindness Foundation to encourage people to spread kindness throughout the Miami Valley in Ohio.

VICTIMS FIRST

© Victims First, Inc. 2024

